‘WHY DOES EVERYONE REMEMBER THE PSYCHOS?’

His IMDb biography says he ‘specialises in psychopathic characters who hide behind a cultivated charm.’ Well, what would they know? It’s true, his performance in Goodfellas was a seminal moment, but Ray Liotta’s career boasts an eclecticism that has gone unnoticed. Until now, writes NICK SCOTT.

The cover of the October 2015 issue of Backstage magazine features a portrait of actor André Holland. He is wearing a dark blue blazer over a light grey t-shirt and a brown fedora hat. He has a beard and is looking directly at the camera with a slight smile. The magazine title 'backstage' is in a large, bold, black font with a blue star at the end. Below the title is the date '10.15.15' and the website 'BACKSTAGE.COM'. The main headline 'André Holland' is in a large, bold, blue font. To the left of the headline, there is a blue vertical bar with the text 'COLLEGE GUIDE:' in white, followed by 'Avoid these common mistakes!' and '9 tips for your audition'. To the right of the headline, there is a text block that reads 'THE STAR OF CINEMAX'S "THE KNICK" ON WHY HIS ROLE WAS A PERFECT FIT'. In the bottom right corner, there is a blue vertical bar with the text '13 PAGES OF CASTING NOTICES INSIDE!' in white. In the bottom left corner, there is a text block that reads 'PLUS: Take a MasterClass with Dustin Hoffman'.

基本男人味 FALL

不論印花圖騰如何火紅，明亮顏色如何占據伸展台，
簡單雋永的丹寧襯衫、海軍藍風衣，或灰色西上裝，
十年百年後依舊是你衣櫃中永不退流行的經典，
簡單穿搭，善用小配件，就散發十足男人味。
我們請來以《Orange Is the New Black》
《How to Get Away with Murder》等影集
走紅的美國男星Matt McGorry來演繹本季秋冬
男士衣櫥中的必備款，簡單就是有型。

好萊塢紐約客新歡 Matt McGorry

剛剛在艾美獎大放異彩的影集《逍遙法外》捧紅了數個年輕明星，包括Matt McGorry飾演來自東岸名流世家的年輕律師，Matt紐約土生土長紐約客背景，搭配吊兒啷噹的言談，讓這個角色充滿了詼諧的貴氣，為緊湊又偏黑色驚悚的劇情帶來難得的幽默橋段，而此次為GQ特別拍攝的時尚大片則展現另一種美國男人Laidback的魅力！

SALE PREVIEW 2016

"Oh, the Poor Press!"

John Goodman, Nathan Lane, and John Slattery kibitz about playing (and playing with) journalists.

TWO STARS of The Front Page, Nathan Lane and John Slattery, are in the back room of a Chelsea Italian joint waiting for a third, John Goodman. "He was in a car right behind us," Lane says before shrugging.

ordering a Chardonnay, and settling in to reminisce with Slattery about a play, The Lisbon Traviata, that they did together back in 1989. "Nathan was the toast of the town—I mean, it was a hilarious part," says Slattery.

"And I was naked. I made my New York theater debut naked. It was horrifying." Soon, the pair—now joined at dinner by Goodman, who's had a preprandial smoke—will again team up and begin rehearsals for their revival of The Front Page, a 1928 play by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur about a band of salty newspapermen waiting for a hanging, reveling in gallows humor, and making up headlines as they go.

NATHAN LANE: I'm the one who sort of got this going. [Producer] Scott Rudin said, "Is there a play you'd like to do?" and I suggested The Front Page. It's a classic American comedy of the 20th century—some people say the American comedy. As Tennessee Williams famously said, "It was the play that uncensored the American theater," because it was rather profane and outrageous for 1928. It's also the Rosetta stone of plays about newspapers. And the media today still feels like, "Oh yeah, if I don't have a story, I'll make one up." JOHN SLATTERY: Part of the issue with trusting the media now is that it's as partisan as poli-

It's very rare do you ever find people that you can talk to on a one-on-one level and they make you feel like you have known them forever. Theo Rossi may seem like a newcomer to the acting world, but has a little over a decade of television and movies under his belt and has portrayed a multitude of characters on just about every network imaginable before landing the coveted role of the enigmatic, anxiety-ridden, Juan Carlos ("Juice") Ortiz on the FX drama series SONS OF ANARCHY which is heading into its final season.

There's also a new edition to the Gillies family; he and wife Rachael Leigh Cook just had their first daughter back in September. Gillies calls his girls "the engines of support in my life." Reflecting on the arrival of his daughter has given him a new outlook on life and work: "It does give me a new perspective. It makes me realize how unimportant I am, and I mean that positively. It makes you want to double down your efforts. My daughter's arrival into the world steered me back into what makes you happiest." Some of this double downing includes working on more personal projects; he's currently writing his second feature film. And the first movie he directed, Broken Kingdom (which starred his wife), enjoyed a run on Showtime last year.

Before we wrap up our conversation, I modestly gush over one of his older films, 2005's Bollywood-meets-Hollywood musical Bride and Prejudice (if you haven't heard of it, Netflix it immediately), and he couldn't be happier while telling me about his experience making the Jane Austen-inspired romp. "I had a wonderful time," he reflects. "It's a charming little movie that introduced me India, which I must return to."

And as The Originals wraps up a memorable last act for its inaugural season, Gillies says he is just as in the dark as the viewers, but his sense tells him that there's a whole regime of villains that are about to be revealed; the dynamics are always changing.

How...original.

the music; it's the fashion, too. Maybe it starts over there and travels and comes back here. I do feel like other areas are great at discovering things and then showing us what's cool.

Is there any collaboration that you're particularly excited about?

There's a song called "I won't stand in your way." It's really special to me. When I was a kid I was huge on Vinyl and had this great collection. I still have the record player that I had back then. I would listen to that song over and over again. Now I just released my album on Vinyl, with that song included and Brian Setzer himself plays the song with me. So when I get to go home and play that record on my old record player, 14 years later, coming full circle like that is very surreal.

You're starring in Fairly Odd Summer on Nick this season. How does it feel going into the film, years after the Fairly Odd Parents craze began?

It's pretty rad. I like it, I have several nieces and nephews and for them to be able to come to my concerts can be difficult, because it's a loud and spontaneous rock show. So, I love being able to do things like The Fairly Odd Parents movies, and Ultimate Spiderman even though my four-year-old nephew is no longer scared of spiders, now he wants to get bit by one. I'm afraid he'll find some black widow and try and get it to bite him [laughs]. It's really fun to go record in Nashville with your guitar idol and just get greased out and then fly to Vancouver and then to Hawaii, where I'm told my scene for the day will basically be me surfing. Total bummer right? Also being able to play such an iconic character is amazing. Fairly Odd Parents is like SpongeBob Squarepants where you can be 6 years' old, or 60 years old watching it. As an adult you'll watch a scene and wonder, how'd they get away with that joke? It's kind of like getting to play Bart Simpson a little bit.

from FX to do whatever they wanted, so they really ended up with something special. It was a thriller, a horror, it was funny, sometimes heartwarming. It was a great experience and probably the most creative thing I've ever been a part of. It was really one of those moments in my life when it was clear to me "This is why I'm an actor."

How was working with Jessica Lange?

MG: Working with Jessica was a dream. Her level of professionalism and the way she conducted herself on the set was incredible. She reaffirmed the notion that hard work in your preparation pays off in spades. More than any other actress she taught me the importance of taking risks.

So have you gotten to surf at all lately?

MG: Awh, man... I've been here shooting for months so I haven't been surfing all summer. Hopefully in the fall, when I get back to L.A., I'll do a surf camping trip and maybe I'll finally take that trip to Costa Rica that I've been putting off.

The Lottery's first season has 10 episodes and is currently airing on Lifetime on Sundays at 10/9c

It tends to catch you by surprise and you end up shouting things like "There's Paulie in a Velveeta commercial!" or "When did Derek shoot an episode of Madmen?" or "Kevin was a monster on Charmed?"

It makes you feel good to see someone you know and all their effort and dreams and dedication paying off. It's always a welcome, little moment of them sort of saying "Hey, look what I can do!" without them actually boasting.

One night I was watching ABC's an episode of Castle and I saw Michael Graziadei. Suddenly there he was onscreen getting interrogated by Nathan Fillion. "Oh my god, that's Graz!" I yelped out, surprised. I called him up to congratulate him and we ended up talking about the work he was doing himself on his house.

Michael and I first met through mutual friends and had surfed together a few times but had never really talked about what he did. I came to learn that he was an actor on the soap opera The Young and the Restless (and how could he not be, with that mug of his?) but since I didn't watch soaps, I'd never seen his work before.

Not long after that I was flipping channels and started watching an episode of American Horror Story and there he was again, playing Jessica Lange's boyfriend in the first season of the FX hit. I didn't even realize it was him right away... only that I had some vague familiarity with the character he was playing. That was when I got the "Hey..., Graz is a really good actor!" epiphany.

Recently he has appeared on big network shows like NBC's Grimm and ABC's Agents of S.H.I.E.L.D. but this summer he's really gotten to showcase his talent on Lifetime Television's The Lottery, which is shooting in Montreal, Canada.

For the purpose of interviewing him for this article, I did a little online digging into his life (I slightly felt like a stalker) and then we reconnected over the phone to catch up and talk about his role on this latest project.

A full-page photograph of actor Manish Dayal. He is sitting on a light-colored wooden stool, leaning forward with his hands resting on his knees. He is wearing a white t-shirt, dark navy trousers, and black lace-up shoes. A red and white checkered shirt is draped over his left leg. The background is a plain, light gray.

MANISH DAYAL IS HAVING A MOMENT. AND SINCE THIS IS OUR ANNUAL SEXY ISSUE, IT'S A SEXY MOMENT. ONE INVOLVES MAKING AN OMELETTE WITH HELEN MIRREN IN THIS MONTH'S, THE HUNDRED-FOOT JOURNEY. THE FILM ADAPTATION OF THE BESTSELLER IS ABOUT AN INDIAN FAMILY THAT OPENS A RESTAURANT ACROSS FROM A RENOWNED BISTRO IN THE SOUTH OF FRANCE. THE CROSS-CULTURAL CULINARY TALE, DIRECTED BY LASSE HALLSTRÖM (CHOCOLAT), PROMISES A BREAKOUT ROLE FOR MANISH (HE'S ALREADY BEEN LABELED AS ONE OF THE FRESH-FACED HEARTTHROBS OF SUMMER). NATURALLY, WE HAD TO FIND OUT WHAT IT WAS LIKE FOR THIS SOUTH CAROLINA NATIVE TO BE HANDPICKED BY A COUPLE OF HOLLYWOOD HEAVY HITTERS...AND HOW HE MANAGED TO MIX FINE CUISINE WITH CROSSFIT.
