They say mastering a craft
takes 10,000 hours.

How does 92 years sound?

We've been innovating for a very long time at Pella®. It's an obsession that's led us to over 150 patents throughout our history, including Duracast®—a strong, durable fiberglass material only found in Pella® Impervia® windows. It stands up to extreme climates to give our modern design something that others can't: a long-lasting impression.

Sticklers for details, including the 96 you can't even see.

Making a great window takes a lot of thought, design, craft, and precision. Fortunately for the people at Pella®, it's our shared obsession, right down to every single one of the 221 details found in our windows. That's because the classic details in our Architect Series® Reserve™ windows make them great. And as our most customizable line, they'll bring your vision to life.

Minimalist design,
maximalist impact.

At Pella®, each window we make is born from a drive for beautiful simplicity and a demand for performance. It's a design sense that leads us away from what's expected and takes us to distinctive new places. It has even brought us our modernist line, Architect Series® Contemporary. Each window features expansive glass, clean lines, and exclusive minimalist hardware options.

We're all used to the way security is:
Control panels, contracts,
passcodes and paranoia.

Lots of hurry hurry, quick quick.

But what if security were different?

What if it felt like it was one step ahead?

With the answers to
"What was that?" and
"Who is that?" just like that.

What if it were tough on bad guys, easy on you?

What if it were so simple to use,
you actually used it?

The image is a composite of three photographs showcasing a modern interior. The largest photo on the left shows a dining area with a white table, dark chairs, and a large window overlooking a brick building. A man and a woman are seated at the table. A large abstract painting is on the wall. The middle photo shows a living area with a fireplace and a bar cart. The right photo shows a living area with a curved sofa and a large window. The text 'COMPASS' and 'Guiding you home.' are prominently displayed, along with a small paragraph of text and the website 'compass.com'.
