DANCING WITH THE STARS

There's something in the way these dresses - and the eight gifted actresses wearing them - move that's intrinsically sexy and wonderfully freeing. It's all part of fashion's new body language - inspired by everything from flamenco to ballet.

PHOTOGRAPHS BY ROBERT TRACHTENBERG

< MAESTRO'S FIRST FILM HOLL WAS AN exquisite young dancer in Tango - Carlos Saura's 1999 tango-romance; she also had a dancing scene in the acclaimed Motorcycle Diaries. She's even studied hip-hop and tango. "I love to be in movement." (There's action of a different sort in The Box and The Speed of Thought, two thrillers she's just completed.)

SUMMER DRESS CODE: Slinky. Glimpses of bare skin just under the boned bandeau top and a skirt formed by long triangles of fabric make this silk organza gown (Angel Sanchez) a masterpiece of subtle sex appeal. "It is so sensual and elegant," Maestro says. "Earth tones-red, orange-are my colors." Earrings, Roxanne Assoulin for Lee Angel. Shoes, BCBGiz. On him: Suit, Calvin Klein. Shirt and shoes, Gucci.

> DANCING MAKES MIA JUMP FOR JOY. Literally, but crowded clubs are not her milieu: "I like dancing at a friend's house, where there is room to move and relax." Amey music "with a groove" - from Prince to punk - gets the Argentine actress going.

SUMMER DRESS CODE: Fresh. The multiple black straps on this seashell draped jersey knockout (Celine) remind us of a ballet wrap top, but there is also a Grecian tunic feeling. "The most important thing is comfort," Maestro says, and we think she has her priorities right. That's why the flexible, inexpensive ballet shoes she's wearing (Claspzio) are such a great high-heel alternative for evening - we like the way they bring a party dress down to earth and allow you to dance painlessly for hours. Earring, Irene Neuwirth.>
