LA ISLA BONITA

Model Joan Smalls packs a tropical-island wardrobe for a long weekend escape to Puerto Rico with the ideal duet partner: Grammy-winning sensation Bruno Mars. Photographed by Peter Lindbergh.

HOMECOMING ROYALTY
You can go home again—Smalls hails from the island; Mars is half–Puerto Rican and half-Filipino. "Coming from Hawaii, I feel right at home anytime I see the beach or the sun!" he says. Donna Karan New York cotton jacket with silk boutonniere ($1,995) and piped skirt ($995); select Neiman Marcus stores. Prada platforms. On Mars: Ralph Lauren Black Label suit throughout. Gap shirt. Jil Sander tie. On girls: Ralph Lauren Childrenswear trench coats. On boy: Papo d'Anjo blazer. Details, see In This Issue. Fashion Editor: Edward Enninful.

MAKING MUSIC TOGETHER
Behind the scenes, Mars (currently on tour with Janelle Monáe) jammed on guitar, with photographer Peter Lindbergh on conga drums. "It impressed me," Mars says, "how much rhythm he had!" Oscar de la Renta posy-print cotton dress, $1,590; select Neiman Marcus stores.

Those dark suits you already own? They're not just for the office. Pair them with an assertive shirt and tie and you might just hit the town looking as rakish as actor Michael Fassbender

CHECK THAT
Striped tie, checked shirt—easier than you think. Really. Just make sure one of the base colors in the tie (in this case, the black stripe) syncs up with the checks.

FIT TO PRINT
A printed dress shirt, in a unique pattern like this one, makes a statement. It says that, yes, you understand what "appropriate attire" means, but in a world of schlubby, dreary suits and ties, why would you ever settle for simply looking appropriate?
