show some skin

Summer nights call for something a little more magical than the all-business lotion you slap on every A.M. Use one with light-diffusing particles, says New York City makeup artist Brigitte Retto-Anderson; try Johnson's Body Care So Radiant Cocoa & Shea Butter Lotion ($5.50, at drugstores). JUST DON'T hide all that radiance—sweep hair into a touchable updo. To help it stay put, first work texturizer into damp hair, we like Number 4 Texture Styling Crème ($14, neworleans.com). Blow-dry and loosely pin up. Dress: Marchesa; eglés, DKNY; boots, Gucci.

smell unforgettable

Instead of perfume to stoke the without being the female equivalent of the obnoxious guy you can smell across the dance floor. So do just a bit on your wrists. Then mist in the air and walk through your things to last longer than it does to skin. JUST DON'T rub your wrists together too hard when applying perfume, says Boston-based fragrance expert Tania Sanchez. That creates a lot of heat, which can make it wear off faster. Visit StyleTalker.com/Shopping for more information.

"WHEN SHE MAKES ME LAUGH, IT'S THIS INTIMATE CONNECTION WE SHARE."
—Chris Ottavella, 35, St. Paul, Minn.

—Amber Kallier
