ON A ROLE

"It's a great mountain to try to climb every day," says Omar Epps, of his daily shift on the Fox television medical drama House, M.D. The show, which launched mid-season, is one of the year's under-the-radar hits, and Epps is riding its wave in style. His previous work includes a critically acclaimed performance in John Singleton's 1995 drama Boyz n the City, a starring role opposite Meg Ryan in the boxing feature Against the Ropes and a turn opposite Jude Law in the remake of Allie. And as if acting on a hit TV show and parenting two girls—6-year-old Aiyanna Yasmine and 10-month-old K'mari Mae—weren't enough, Epps also runs his own record and film production company. When asked about his wardrobe, the Brooklyn native says, "I'm sort of one of those people who goes where my heart is at." And these days, his heart prefers Converse, True Religion Jeans, Banana Republic and Chrome Hearts.
