MODERN MUSES

ROMANTIC, ETHEREAL, EDGY OR ACTIVE – WHICH FASHION GIRL INSPIRES YOU?

GROWN-UP BOHO

If Virginia Woolf were alive now, this is how she would dress: lace and cotton, texture and trim. These are romantic clothes with a minimalist edge that will appeal to the woman who carries a book by Nietzsche in her Prada bag. Wear with supersized bangles and chunky beads.

Acetate and viscose dress, £500, by Sportmax; matchesfashion.com.
Orange and yellow resin bead necklace, £145, by Pebble London.
Vintage yellow wood bangle, £20, from Retlik. Silk and leather top, £3,035, and silk skirt, £1,225, by Salvatore Ferragamo. Cream crackled resin bangle, £45, by Pebble London. Vintage black wood bangle, £25, from Retlik

MAX FACTOR

She wants everything — and she wants it now. She doesn't ration her best pieces — she wears them all at once. This is anti-drab dressing, where a military lt jacket meets a sparkly T-shirt and a leopard-print skirt is worn with metallic stacks. Normcore is dead; she's maxing out on magic instead.

Halter-neck wool sequined top, £1,770, Spencer red twill officer jacket, £2,565, ponyskin miniskirt, £2,920, and Candy Cross Star turquoise sandals, £885, by Saint Laurent by Hedi Slimane. Pure Matt tights, £16, by Falke

P R E T T Y
A C T I V E

She's the kind of girl who jumps out of bed in the morning, raring to go. She wants a pull-on frock that's as easy as a T-shirt but as glamorous as a party frock. She likes sporty shapes and feminine fabrics and wears her statement frock with plimsolls and huge hoops.

Laser-cut leather dress, £4,100, by Tod's. Cotton-polyester dress, £1,745, by Chloé. Brass hoop earrings, £45, by Pebble London

FLOATY FEMME

This girl's idea of heaven is running barefoot through a poppy field. But for her, summer sexuality isn't about letting it all hang out. She creates allure in a sheer 1970s maxidress.

Navy Tactel bra, £40, by Bodas. Blue pleated-tulle shift dress, £1,995, by Burberry Prorsum. Pavé cone ring, £152 (for three), by Eddie Borgo. Lace knit dress, £1,730, by Missoni
