Hollywood
REPORTER

Issue No. 36, November 25, 2016

90

Clockwise from top left: Tori Amos, Pharrell Williams, Alicia Keys, John Legend, Justin Timberlake and Sting were photographed Nov. 7 at Line 204 in Hollywood. For a sneak peek from the Songwriter Roundtable, go to THR.com/video.

THE REPORT

21 Trump's Media Paradox
The press has been the president-elect's home turf as much as the real estate business, writes Michael Wolff, but now he's a mogul buddy at war with the moguls. Who wins?

24 Joel Silver's Venice Vacancy
The producer's financial woes leave a landmark empty.

ABOUT TOWN

33 Post-Election: An Open Letter to Hollywood
Top Hillary Clinton fundraiser Jeffrey Katzenberg strikes a note of optimism as he writes for THR that he has "jettisoned despair" over Donald Trump's win: "Maybe he is now prepared to forsake reality TV for reality."

44 Rambling Reporter

THE BUSINESS

48 Executive Suite: Lisa Nishimura
The Netflix vp on bringing back Making a Murderer and Chris Rock's $40M payday.

50 How TV Became an ATM for Actors
Competition from Netflix and Amazon has overheated the market for top stars and creators willing to forgo traditional backends.

STYLE

59 THR Watches Guide
The Girl on the Train star Edgar Ramirez reflects on rebuilding his collection after a break-in. Plus, what's on Hollywood's wish list and 30 great tickers that transition day to night.

REVIEWS

120 Fantastic Beasts and Where to Find Them
